THE UNIQUE

AMUSEMENTS

"MALE & FEMALE"

AT BUTLER TODAY

Another famous play appears on the screen and will be shown at the Butler today. Cecil B. De Mille has adapted Sir James N. Barrie's famous "The Admirable Crichton," and renamed it "Male and Female," and has made of it one of the screen's most lavish productions.

So Fate seized them—a snobbish family of British blue-bloods. Cast them on an island where the voice of the world was lost. Tumbled there, lord and butler, lady and scullery maid, into a common mass of males and females. Laughed at their former glories, their former handicaps. Pointed to an untamed jungle, ruled only by wild beasts, and said: "Now we shall see who rules." Then the butler, because he was a man, became a king; and the great lady who only disdained him, served, loved him—fought with a slavey for his kiss! One day a ship! Rescue! Home! The old world and its old ways. Its pride, conventions, shallow distinctions. Did the true love, the true leadership, of the wilds hold them? Come and see. A romance that searches deep into human hearts. A picture, poignant, powerful, tremendous in its scope, superb in its artistry—destined to rank as a thrilling climax to all the other great De Mille achievements.

Tomorrow William Farnum, in "Wings of the Morning."

If nobody understands you, you're not worth understanding.
